THE OLD MAN.

Boy's, when you speak of your father don't call him the "old man." Of course you are older now than when you were taught to call him "father." You are much smarter than you were then, you are much more manly looking, your clothes fit you better, your hat has a modern shape and your hair is combed differently, in short, you are more of a "fyer" than you were then. Your father has a last year's coat, a two-year old hat and a vest of still older pattern. He can't write such an elegant note as you can and all that, but don't call him the "old man." Call him "father." For years he has been hustling around to get things together, he has been held to the thorny path of uphill industry, and the brightest half of his life has gone from him for ever. He loves you, though he goes along without saying much about it, therefore be not so ungrateful.

FEW WOUNDED DIE.

In predicting that the rate of mortality among the wounded in this war will be the lowest known in history, sir Williams Osler is basing his faith solely upon the improvement made in the medical service. While the great military nations have competed in more destructive weapons, to a large extent they have neutralized one another's efforts by providing better care of the wounded and sick.

Through barbarous neglect in the Napoleonic days, 400,000 French soldiers died of disease in the Peninsular campaign to 60,000 killed in the battle. In the Boer war, in the British force of 208,326, 5,776 men were killed in battle and 2,108 died of wounds, a total of 7,884, or about 14 per thousand a year, while 14,120 died of disease, or 25.58 per thousand a year. In the war with Russia the Japanese lost in action 54 per thousand a year, an enormous proportion, and 25 per thousand a year died of disease, about the same as the British rate in South America. But the most striking fact in the Japanese records was the low rate of mortality among the wounded collected and transported to the rear, which fell to little more than 3 per cent. In Manchuria one third of the wounded within a month returned to the ranks.—New York World.

GAY LIFE IN THE CITY.

It's about time to put the kibosh on all this talk about keeping the boys on the farm. Why should a boy or young man want to stay on a farm when he can go to the city, and, after tramping through the heat, or cold, or rain, or snow for five or six weeks, land a fine, fat, soft snap of a job as a motor-man? Then all he will have to do will be to get up at about 5 a. m., winter and summer, swallow a boarding house breakfast that a hog on his father's farm would spurn, dash merrily to the car barn, take the abuse of a slave-driving car starter, and go gaily to work. Oh, what pleasure to stand all day in a vestibule that is perfumed with the smells of the unwashed bodies of just-over immigrant laborers, on their way to work in a sewer! Think of the fragrance of all grades of tobacco in cigarettes, in cigars and in pipes of many degrees of strength! It is simply great to breathe this spicy air all day. In the meanwhile one hears the compliments of the ladies and gentlemen who do not happen to think of signaling when they want to get off, but who rightfully feel that the motorman should have known, if he was not such a fat-headed lout, and who do not hesitate to tell him so. Oh yes, it's great. Every farmer boy ought to leave home at once and dash to the city. Think of the wages he'll get! Why, at the end of a month, after paying for board, room, laundry, clothes and uniforms, union dues and assessments, he'll have almost enough left to go to a movie show. But he probably won't go, because he'll be so all-in and so full of the poisonous reek that he inhaled all day, that he will tumble into bed to forget it until the alarm clock calls him to begin all over again.

Junction City News.

Pretty Church Wedding.

One of the prettiest church weddings ever witnessed in Junction City occurred at the Baptist church at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon when Rev. J. H. Strother of Shreveport performed the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Seawillow, daughter of Mrs. Adecie Barrow, to Dr. Daniel James Baucum of Rayville, La.

The wedding march was beautifully rendered by Mrs. A. H. Proctor; Miss Modque Coyne was the bridesmaid and Mr. Ferguson of Haynesville, La., was best man, while Miss Maude Henderson and Dr. Rex A. Barrow also stood up with the wedding party.

The bride is one of Junction City's most accomplished and beloved young ladies and the groom is a promising young physician.

The happy couple left on the 2:10 train for Shreveport to attend the Louisiana state fair, accompanied by a number of friends. They went from there to New Orleans from which port they sailed for Cuba for a brief visit. The News joins their many friends in extending congratulations.

Hansel Nelson transacted business at El Dorado Monday. Not knowing the nature of the business we will have to wait the results.

J. J. Stinnett left Tuesday for Tennessee on an extended business trip.

Rev. A. A. Williamson resigned as pastor of the Baptist church and preached his farewell sermon Sunday night. He left Tuesday for Little Rock to attend the Baptist convention.

Constable W. D. Nelson visited relatives at Bolding this week.

J. K. Ramsey has about completed the erection of his 60x100 feet cotton warehouse. This will be converted into a bonded warehouse as soon as completed.

Misses Jacque and Norvelle

Hammett of El Dorado spent Sunday with friends here.

Strange Woman.
"Was it a quiet wedding?" "Decidedly! Both the bride and the groom were so scared they could hardly speak above a whisper."

Make Our Own Troubles.
"We talk so much and we think so much of the trouble we have with others that we more than half persuade ourselves that if everybody else were just right we could get on easily in life; but the fact is that more than half of our troubles with others grow out of our own faults and failures, and are not due to the faults or failures of other people at all."

Ancient Cult of the Flycatcher. Beelzebub was the fly god of Ekron (referred to in II Kings 1:2, 3, 4 and 10). The great god Baal was sometimes worshiped as the "lord of the fly," as he who drives off the flies.

The flies were then and are now man's worst enemies in Palestine and Egypt. We remember well how we had to be continually fighting them off with fans when we were traveling in those lands. The flies settled on the eyes of the children and literally sucked out their eyesight.—Christian Herald.

Dickens the Humorist.

Only the great humorists survive their own day and generation. There is nothing that fades so quickly as humor. What our grandfathers laughed at is likely to seem very flat to us. But the humor of a genius like Dickens is as fresh and stimulating today as when he wrote his books. It springs from his knowledge of character, and is founded on the universal experiences of life, and humor like this does not die.

NO ALUM in Dr. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

LIKE THE ORDINARY SAILOR

Choice of Cup Defender's Name Proves That Yachtsmen Are Not Above Superstition.

Perhaps a sloop yacht would sail just as fast if you called her the Jag or Late to Dinner. Her lines and her canvas would be unaffected, and that is all that seems to count, as landsmen have a notion that the name is important. Eight letters have appeared in the name of each cup winner in the last dozen years—Defender, Vigilant, Columbia and Reliance. And if the Herreshoff yacht, built by the New York club's syndicate, wins out in the trial race and is chosen to defend the cup, she will bear the name Resolute, which has the eight-letter mascot.

Old-timers will remember that the Puritan had seven letters, and the Mayflower and the Volunteer nine each. They may doubt whether eight letters will help us win against Lipton's Shamrock IV. The name Resolute is already borne by the flagship of the New York Yacht club, an auxiliary sloop. A schooner of the same name was the winner of several prizes some thirty years ago.

All Americans will keep their eyes on the Resolute, and will wish her well. She will be beaten, in any case, only by a better boat, and we have a fixed national conviction that a better boat cannot be built in British yards.

MOST LIKELY

Mr. Newrich (pompously)—My daughter, sir, was born with a silver spoon in her mouth.

Mr. Quickwit—As a souvenir of the occasion, I presume.

CAN WE UNDO THE MISCHIEF?

"The college girl is inaccurate," says the adviser to women at Cornell university. "About one in one hundred knows how to report accurately what she has observed."

Harvard graduates fail to get down to business. Harvard undergraduates can't write a correct letter. College men generally are duffers at putting ideas in plain English. New York school teachers break all rules of grammar when they take pen in hand to demand their pay. New York high school students fall down fifty-six ways on the spelling of "isosceles." Every twenty-four hours brings some fresh evidence of the handicap of schooling.

Why doesn't somebody write a manual on "How to Succeed Though Educated?"—New York Evening World.

PARADOXICAL.

"What are those two boys squaring off for?"
"I suppose they are squaring off for a round."

THE REASON.

"Why don't they put fire escapes on churches?"
"Because the whole church is built to be a fire escape."

QUITE NATURAL.

"What was the fight about in the meeting?"
"It was about the best way to preserve party harmony."

Missed Opportunity.

Another precedent has been broken. A New York trained nurse married a wealthy patient, and then let him get well.—Washington Herald.

Saw Wasted Time Ahead.

My little boy was one day told to wash his face as it was very dirty. He said: "Where is it dirty?" I said, "Wash it all over and you'll be sure to get the dirty places." He said with a wall, "Yes, and I'll be sure to get some of the clean places, too."—Exchange.
